

UAUCU Undergraduate Research Exchange Program

The University of Aruba (UA) and University College Utrecht (UCU) have an agreement for international student mobility.

A special project between the UA and UCU is the Undergraduate Research Exchange Program: students in their final year are provided the opportunity to work on their thesis research or on a specific research assignment in a multidisciplinary student group. Students from all faculties and disciplines are welcome, as long as their research has meaning for the Aruban community. The preliminary results of the first edition can be found by clicking on the link under the picture. For more information on this program or to apply for the program, contact eric.mijts@ua.aw

